Dispatch Delivery

Just in time for spring – walk around the neighborhood, enjoy the fresh air and see everything start to bloom. The Dispatch needs people to deliver the paper each month. If you didn't get your paper last month, it's because there is no deliverer on your route. Please call Linda Rose at 703-442-8375 to help out. ☞

Letters

Lots of people wrote letters regarding development in Pimmit Hills. Read them all online at the PHCA website, pimmithills.org. Thanks to all – everyone from long time residents to new residents – who have written their thoughts on this issue. The general consensus is that we have a special and unique neighborhood which should be preserved. Send your views to The Dispatch at dispatch@pimmithills.org.

Did You Know?

By Jennifer Baker, PHCA Secretary

Here's what happened at the last Pimmit Hills Citizens Association (PHCA) meeting in February:

Hello Neighbors - Before continuing on with my column, I must pause and note with great sadness a tremendous loss for our Community. On February 12, Keith Allison passed away. Keith faithfully served his community for many years in many ways, not the least of which was as President of the Pimmit Hills Citizens Association. I hope that all of you will join me in keeping Keith's wife Jackie and the rest of his family in your thoughts and prayers during this difficult time. Keith's passing is mourned and his contributions will not be soon forgotten.

As for the February meeting, all I can say is WOW! The turnout was impressive and we hope that all of you who joined us for the first time (or for the first time in a long time) will come again.

The meeting itself was short and sweet, but packed with information we can all use.

Once again people expressed great interest and concern about the prospect of a developer buying homes in Pimmit Hills. The Board of Directors reported that nothing further has been heard from the developer's representative and that they have not taken us up on our offer to come speak to residents. Those present agreed that the best course of action is to "let sleeping dogs lie." The offer to come and speak remains on the table, but the ball is now in the developer's court as to whether or not they will ever take us up on it. It was further confirmed that nobody else has been contacted either so, to the best of our knowledge, this is a dead issue.

Bill Niland reported that the Neighborhood Watch Program is still in need of volunteers. He also shared some valuable tips on how to handle harassing and obscene phone calls. To find out more about the many resources and classes available to you on safety issues (ie self-defense and proper installation of child safety seats), or to volunteer to serve in the Neighborhood Watch Program, please contact Bill directly at 703-356-8240.

Many thanks go out to the 22 people who have volunteered to participate in the petition phase of the Traffic Calming Project. The process of canvassing the neighborhood has been a long, slow one. Our hats are off to Linda and Jeff Rose and their crew of volunteers who have given so much of their time to see this thing through.

Based on the discussion at the February Association meeting, it seems like there is still a lot of confusion about the Traffic Calming Project. If you are among those who still aren't clear on exactly what this project entails, we encourage you to come to our next meeting to hear more. By then we hope to have the petition process completed and we will be providing more information about next steps.

Hey walkers - We need you! There are still a number of Dispatch routes open which we need to have covered. It's an easy once a month commitment that gives you a chance to enjoy some exercise, while providing a service to your community. Those interested should contact Linda Rose at 703-442-8375 to find out more about this opportunity.

We ended the meeting with hot coffee and a smorgasbord of tasty treats provided by Joan Nalepa and her Cooking Crew. This has become such a nice tradition - we hope you will join us in it soon. It's so much better when we have a good turnout, so if you haven't joined us yet, please seriously consider coming out soon. All are welcome, and those with kids can bring them along if you need to. See you in March!☞

& Burlapped), feel the rootball. It should be firm and even, without any major root stubs poking out.

Ball size is also important; a 1"-caliper tree should have at least a 16"-wide ball, with each additional ½" of trunk diameter calling for another 4 inches of ball. Check the trunk. It should be clean and undamaged - no wounds, old or new, no cracks, no fungus. (Remove trunk wrap, if present. And don't put it back on.) Look at the branches. They should come out of the trunk one at a time, not in pairs or groups, with one dominant leader. When moving a tree, be careful not to break the root ball or abrade the bark, especially on the way home.

Now that you're home with your new leafy friend, let's dig a hole. Do not dig any deeper than the rootball, and slightly shallower is better if the site is a bit on the wet side. Make the hole as wide as possible, loosening the surrounding soil to facilitate oxygen, water and root penetration. Set the tree in the hole, check the elevation of the rootball (not too deep, please), and then firm some soil around the base of the ball. Now cut away the wire basket, if present, all twine and the top half of the burlap. Wire and twine can girdle roots, and burlap, if exposed to the air, can act as a wick, pulling moisture away from the roots.

Do not add soil amendments, unless you do it shallowly and over a very large area. Digging a hole and adding organic matter to the back-fill creates an in-ground pot that can keep roots confined, if overwatering doesn't kill them first. And most of our yards have been undisturbed for so long that our clay soil is in pretty good shape. (The exception is if you've had any recent rearranging or compacting of the soil by heavy equipment.) When watering, think "less often, more water." When a week goes by without a good rain, use a sprinkler and a rain gauge (even if it's just a straight-sided tin can), and water a large area around the tree until an inch has collected in the gauge. Apply only 1½ to 2" of mulch and never let it pile up around the trunk. Stake only if necessary, and tie the tree loosely -- some movement of the trunk will promote a stronger root system. And remove all staking after leaf-drop in the fall. Prune any damaged limbs right away, but allow the tree to get established for a year or two before pruning any healthy growth. Chosen and planted carefully, it won't be long before you can drag the chaise lounge out under your new shade tree, and wait for the ice cream man in nature's own air-conditioned comfort. ☞

The Pimmit Hills Gardener

By Deanne Eversmeyer

As early as winter moved in last year, you'd think we'd be due an early spring. No late-March snowstorms that leave glaciers in the parking lots for weeks. No sudden drops into the 20's just as the Magnolias pop into full bloom. No Daffodil-encasing ices-torms. I want a warm, gentle and early spring. No tears shed as this winter shuffles out the back door.

If your shade trees did not weather this winter well, it may be time to call in an arborist to clean up jagged stubs (or any stubs), or perhaps even to remove a tree completely. Unattended damage can lead to serious problems later, as rot sets in and undermines the integrity of that towering Oak or Tulip Poplar. (You've always wanted a skylight, but not one big enough to accommodate a tree!) And after your licensed and insured arborist is finished, you may need to replace a tree or two.

Off we go to the nursery. What kind of tree do you want? Let's do a bit of research first on ultimate size, shape and cultural requirements, and make an informed decision, even if it's just asking the guy in the logoed shirt a bunch of questions. (Let's face it, this tree will probably be around a lot longer than your CD player.) If you're not satisfied with his answers, ask to see

"Dirr's manual." This bible of the nursery industry has everything you need to know about any tree or shrub out there. Next look at the particular tree you've chosen. If it's containerized, remove the pot and look at the roots. Are they circling around the outside of the rootball? If so, pass it up. If it's B&B (Balled

Voice of Democracy Winner

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary Post 9274 in Falls Church are pleased to announce that Katherine Ferguson, a student at Burke High School, places second in the tenth district-wide competition in the Voice of Democracy competition. Katherine advanced from local competition at the Falls Church VFW.

High school students write scripts on patriotic themes selected annually by the VFW National organization, which they audiotape. Contestants are judged on the content of their script and their speaking ability. First place winners advance from local to district, state and lastly, national competition.

Katherine Ferguson received her awards with other winners at the VFW's Tenth District meeting to be held at the McLean VFW Post 8241 on Springhill Road in February.

Heard on the Grapevine

By Donnie Dick

All good things must come to an end. Mrs. Brenda Riley, the Director of the Pimmit Hills Senior Center, is leaving after serving our community in an outstanding manner. She will be missed by the many friends and acquaintances she has made in the Hills. Brenda and her husband Dan, the Strengthening and Conditioning coach of the Washington Redskins, are moving to the Houston area where Dan will work for the new Houston Texans team. We wish them all the best.

I said in an earlier column that I would give due credit for things I saw going right in our community. While our snowfalls have been moderate so far this winter, we have had excellent snow removal and sanding from Fairfax County.

Thank you Fairfax County Board of Supervisors.

I don't know whether you folks have the Fairfax Journal newspaper near your driveway on Saturdays. What's with the two copies in the bag? One copy is too much for me and it clutters up the landfill.

There for a while I thought I was going to have a bed check by the bedroom cops. Thanks to cooler heads the proposal didn't get off the launch pad. Our Senator had good intentions but political correctness got in the way. I don't like to see my neighborhood become flophouse haven and we need to come to terms with the lack of affordable housing. This issue is a difficult one and everybody has a solution as long as it is not in my backyard.

In Memoriam

On Monday, February 12, the Immediate Past president of the Pimmit Hills Citizens Association, Eugene Keith Allison, died of cardiac arrest following a long illness. He was 71 years old. Keith lived with his wife, Jackie, at 1748 Pimmit Drive for over forty years. Keith was active for many years in various community activities. He was a past president of the Lions Club and was the former manager of the Little League Shamrocks baseball team. He and his wife Jackie were members of the Pimmit Hills Citizens Association and Keith served for many years as the President and Vice President of the Association. His presidency ended in June 2000. Keith devoted much of his retirement to serving our community and he will be missed by his friends and neighbors. ☞

Get Ready for the Spring Market!

With an over $20,000 increase in all the home prices in the area, this is the best appreciation we've seen since the late 1980s. A basic Pimmit house with no additions and regular maintenance is now in the $160-170,000 range. Homes with more improvements are selling substantially higher. Three years ago only one house sold over the $200K mark, and now this plateau has been shattered. It's time to polish up the inside and get ready for the spring market. Based on supply and demand, this spring looks to continue the pace. Please call for a list of the year's past sales and current inventory if you are thinking about a move in 2001.
